City Council Commends San José Business LynuxWorks, Inc.

San José initiative recognizes businesses that drive the economy

San José – San Jose Mayor Ron Gonzales and the City Council will recognize and commend LynuxWorks, Inc. and Dr. Inder Singh, CEO and Chairman, for their contributions to the San José economy through jobs and revenues.

LynuxWorks, founded in 1988 and headquartered in San Jose, is a pioneer and global leader in the embedded software market, providing operating systems, software development products and consulting services for the world's most successful communications, aerospace/defense, and consumer products companies.

LynuxWorks continues to set the standard with innovative embedded technology that is powering everyday intelligent computer devices and systems in today's exploding technology market where Internet communications and standardization are driving growth in a number of different industries.

LynuxWorks Inc. is a valued strategic partner with the world's top hardware and software companies and remains a technology leader at the heart of the embedded systems revolution exemplifying the entrepreneurial spirit of Silicon Valley.

The city's commendation to LynuxWorks is a part of San José's Business Appreciation Initiative, which is a key component of the city's economic development strategy.. This business-retention effort recognizes San José successful companies that are fast growing, international, generate significant sales tax, employ more than 1,000 employees, or publicly traded and based in San José.
